

1. Disclosure of your information

We may disclose your personal information to any member of our group, which means our subsidiaries, our ultimate holding company and its subsidiaries as defined in Section 1159 of the UK Companies Act 2006.

We may disclose your personal information to third parties:

- (a) In the event that we sell or buy any business or assets, in which case we may disclose your personal data to the prospective seller or buyer of such business or assets.
 - (b) If we or substantially all of our assets are acquired by a third party, in which case personal data held about our customers will be one of the transferred assets.
 - (c) If we are under a duty to disclose or share your personal data to comply with any legal obligation.
 - (d) To enforce or apply our Terms and Conditions and other agreements.
 - (e) If it is required to do so to deliver our services. We sometimes outsource certain functions of our business to service providers: some of these service providers may use cloud-based systems: in that case, your personal data would be hosted on their servers, but under our direction and control.
 - (e) To protect the rights, property or safety of PaymentsCompliance, our customers or others.
 - (f) Where we have received your permission for us to do so.
